When you have completed your research, show what you have learned in a manner of your choosing.

You could: write a story or comic strip, write a non-chronological report, write a newspaper article, do something in the style of Horrible Histories.

The choice is up to you!

If you can't research then you can make up your own crimes and punishments that you think fit!

Art

Become a Police Artist!

When a crime has been committed, if a witness saw the perpetrator, they will spend time with an artist and explain what the person looked like.

An artist's impression of what the criminal looked like is created.

Below are some examples of where the impressions closely resembled the criminal

Use googles images to search for examples of police artist's work.

Watch YouTube videos to find 'how to' videos giving tips for drawing portraits.

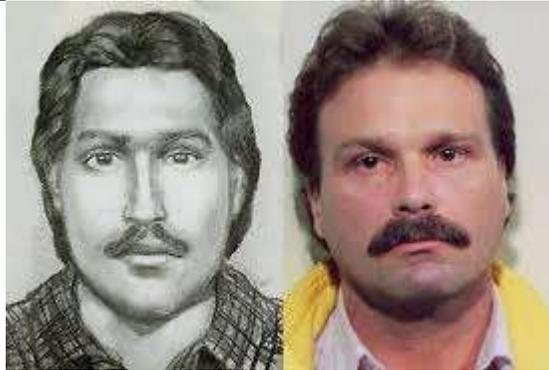

Use the internet to find images of famous people for the activities.

When you have finished your work, take a photo and send your work to Mr Marsh and Miss Boulter using the class email

6o@sparkenhoe.leicester.sch.uk

6h@sparkenhoe.leicester.sch.uk

You could even have a go at drawing your teacher from memory!

Have a go at becoming a police artist!

You could:

1. Find a picture of somebody famous and have a go at drawing their portrait.
2. Try to draw somebody you know from memory.
3. Ask a member of your family to find a picture of somebody famous, and without telling you who the person is, describe their features and what they look like. When you are finished, does your picture look like the famous person?

Computing

E-fits!

Linked to Crime and Punishment.

In the 21st century, the police are less likely to use artist's impression drawing and instead use e-fits. An e-fit is a computer program that builds a face from 1000s of choices of eyes, noses, mouths etc.

Have a go at using the snipping tool and building funny faces.

If you do not have easy access to a computer, you can always use pictures in newspapers and magazines and cut out different features and build a face that way.
